

“Public Work crews have been working diligently for the last two weeks removing storm debris in the form of tree branches and limbs.

Residents have been allowed to bring their fallen limbs and branches out to the curb line and DPW crews have been removing this debris.

Residents should only put out branches and limbs which have fallen. Leaves must still be bagged in clear plastic bags and placed at the property line for pick up.

If you are removing a tree that is still standing or trimming a tree the tree trimming company is responsible for removing the branches, limbs and trunks.

After Friday November 16, 2012, crews will no longer be picking this debris up. After the 16th you must bundle your branches in stacks that are 4 feet or less in length and place out on your normal rubbish day.

Thank you for your cooperation on this matter.”
